Dulles Charges Korean Reds With Violating Truce Terms

Actions Do Not Warrant Resuming War

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles charged today the Communists have clearly violated some terms of the Korean armistice, but he held that the violations do not justify resuming the war.

Dulles said the Reds have deliberately obstructed the work of the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission and probably have built up their airpower beyond the limits allowed under the 1953 cease fire.

In view of the Communist attitude, Dulles told a news conference, he favors Sweden and Switzerland's request that they be permitted to quit the Supervisory Commission which is assigned to check conditions on both sides of the military line.

He said Red restrictions on the commission, which also included representatives of Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia, have made it impossible to inspect Northern Korea, particularly since they have built up new supply routes which they do not permit the Swiss and Swedes to inspect.

In answering questions, he also:

1. Chided visiting South Korean President Syngman Rhee for remarking that "fear and vaccination" were evident in U.S. policy toward Asia. Dulles said such comments showed a petulance which might be attributed to Washington's heat wave. He added, however, that the United States is big enough to be tolerant of Rhee's remarks since he is a very fine patriot.

2. Reported that the United States has sent a second sharp note to Communist China, demanding compensation for six Americans killed or wounded by red fighter planes. He said this note makes the point that the Peiping regime is totally wrong when it says the shooting is none of the business of the United States because it involved a clash between Red fighters and a British airliner.

3. Said the American Air Force and Navy would help protect Formosa against any Communist attack even though no formal defense treaty now exists with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's government. No decision has been made on whether to negotiate one.

4. Hailed the settlement of the Suez dispute between Britain and Egypt. This shifts 80,000 of Britain's best troops from an area where they were exposed to possible atomic attack in event of war, he said, and allows Egypt to concentrate on its economic and social development. He called the settlement an event of tremendous importance, brought about partly by American mediation.

5. Said he has reason to believe an agreement can be expected tomorrow, solving the long-standing British-Iranian dispute over oil facilities along the Persian Gulf. He also said Italy and Yugoslavia have greatly narrowed disagreements over the future of Trieste and that an understanding could be reached shortly.

Hilton Buys Large Statler Hotel Chain

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Aug. 3 (AP)—The Hilton Hotels have bought the Statler Hotels—a giant transaction in which an innkeeper's son acquires a chain founded by an ex-bellhop.

The Hilton Hotels Corp. described the multimillion-dollar deal as the "largest transaction in the history of the hotel industry." And in the process Conrad Hilton, colorful son of a New Mexico innkeeper, will be nearly doubling the capacity of his already extensive chain.

Hilton announced his company has signed a contract to acquire controlling interest in Hotels Statler Co., Inc., from the Statler Foundation and various trusts created by the founder, Ellsworth M. Statler. Hilton will acquire eight Statler properties now in operation to increase to 26 the number of hotels owned, leased or operated by Hilton Hotels Corp. The deal will involve in the neighborhood of 76 million dollars.

The Hilton organization will acquire Statler properties in Boston, New York, Buffalo, Washington, Cleveland, St. Louis, Los Angeles and Detroit.

Early returns from the state were being counted as returns trickled in from primaries in Michigan, Missouri and West Virginia.

Firemen Have Narrow Escape

CHESTER, PA., Aug. 3 (AP)—Twenty volunteer firemen paid little attention today to a charred box they saw in the midst of an underbrush blaze they fought for four hours in nearby Green Ridge. The fire extinguished, one of the volunteers kicked the box—and out rolled 40 sticks of dynamite.

Citizens Work Into Early Morning Hours Saving 4,000 Oxygen-Starved Fish In Lake

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3 (AP)—A group of Montgomery County citizens battled like Colonial Minutemen today to save 4,000 oxygen-starved fish in a private lake.

The battle began late Monday when William Shafer noticed the surface of the lake covered with dead-fish. It was estimated that about 2,000 of the 6,000 bass and bluegills in the lake had died as the hot sun destroyed the oxygen-producing algae in the water.

The three-acre lake, stocked by neighboring residents, is located near the Philadelphia-Bucks-Montgomery County lines.

Shafer ran from house to house, sounding the alarm.

The residents rigged up a mobile pump so that water flushed in and out of the lake.

"We figured this was a good way to aerate the water," Shafer explained.

Other neighbors punched holes in a 200-foot length of garden hose and began pumping air into the lake.

But more dead fish continued to float to the surface.

The embattled neighbors called state Fish Warden Thomas B. Karper.

Karper tested the water's temperature at 10:30 p.m., and found it was 84 degrees. The Huntingdon Valley Fire Company was summoned. Chief Edwin Fleck called for the pump.

The firemen pumped streams of

Armas Orders Attacks On Defiant Base

GUATEMALA, Aug. 3 (AP)—President Carlos Castillo Armas' honor guard and the Guatemalan air force launched an attack tonight on the still defiant garrison at the nearby Aurora military base. The base apparently continued to oppose the regular army's agreement with the ruling military junta.

No official reason was given for the attack, which was announced by a spokesman of the junta, Capt. Lionel Sisniega Otero.

Planes swooped low over the restive capital before the attack was announced, as thousands of Armas supporters—many in deep mourning—demonstrated against the army pressure which brought disbandment of the president's irregular "liberation army."

Then, as the attack was announced, the planes disappeared. Armed units blocked off all roads leading to the base, four miles from downtown Guatemala. The size of the force at Aurora is not known.

The regular army last night forced the junta to order the disbandment and disarming of some 700 irregulars quartered at near-by Roosevelt Hospital.

The army pressure climaxed a day of bloody fighting yesterday between the irregulars, non-uniformed but well armed, and cadets of the military academy who received army support.

Twenty-five persons were killed and 70 were wounded in the scattered battles throughout yesterday. It started with a pre-drawn brawl in a house of prostitution between the liberation forces and the cadets.

That brawl apparently only brought to a head the festering resentment of the army at the presence of the irregulars.

The army announced it was not against Armas or the anti-Communist three-man military junta he has headed since he threw out the leftist government of Jacobo Arben Guzman last month. Following Armas' agreement to disband the irregulars, the army said it placed itself fully under government control.

Apparently, however, the troops at Aurora continued to oppose the junta.

Nunan Given Five Years, Fined $15,000

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP)—The former boss of the nation's tax collectors, Joseph D. Nunan Jr., was sentenced to five years in prison and fined $15,000 today as an income tax cheater.

He was convicted of evading $91,086 in personal income taxes. "His failure to properly account for and pay his own taxes emphasizes his guilt," declared Federal Judge Walter Bruchhausen as Nunan stood stiffly before the bench.

Evidently seeking to make an example of Nunan, lest others in high places be tempted to break their trust for personal gain, the judge added:

"The fraud practiced by the defendant cannot be condoned. There must be adequate punishment."

Nunan was appointed U. S. Commissioner of Internal Revenue by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt and served from 1944 to 1947.

He still has a perjury charge pending against him.

37 Cheat Death When Plane Crashes

PRESTON, Conn., Aug. 3 (AP)—Thirty-seven passengers and crewmen, among them two babies, cheated death today in a terrifying crash of a big transatlantic Constellation battling rain and a low ceiling.

The Air France four-engine plane, bound for Mexico City from Paris via New York, crashed on an isolated farm. It then burst into flames and burned furiously for two hours.

Twelve were listed as hurt, but half of them only superficially. Among the most seriously injured was the pilot, Capt. Jean Caboche of Paris. There was fear he would lose his left leg.

It seemed miraculous that no one was killed.

Caboche had guided the big plane to New York's Idlewild Airport, its immediate destination. Turned back by the weather, he was groping for a landing place when the plane came down in this small eastern Connecticut town between Norwich and New London, about 130 miles from New York.

Three Civil Aeronautics Authority investigators, including Joseph Fluett, head of the Safety Bureau, hurried to the scene in an effort to determine the cause of the accident.

The plane, skidding along on its belly, gouged a track across a field for about half a mile before it rose again into the air.

It then sheered off the top of a row of trees "as if some one had clipped them with a giant scythe," a witness said, smashed into the ground again and skidded through the yard of the home of Valentine Sebastian.

By a bare 50 feet, a wing tip missed the porch where one of Sebastian's small twin sons was playing.

As it hurtled on, the plane slammed through a small outbuilding containing an automobile, which was demolished.

No sooner had the plane finally come to a halt than flame appeared on one of the wings.

Dazed and bewildered, passengers scrambled to the field before the fire reached them.

The seriously injured, including Capt. Caboche with a severe compound fracture of the left leg and a dislocated hip, were carried to safety.

25-year-old Guatemala City physician, Dr. Horacio Polanco, suffered a broken neck. He was paralyzed from the waist down.

The plane carried a crew of 8 and 29 passengers, including 3 children, 4 weeks, 2 years and 9 years old.

The plane left Paris Monday night and stopped at Shannon, Ireland.

Witnesses said the fire left the plane a "scrambled mess."

The crash occurred six miles from Norwich and slightly more than that from New London.

Ambulances from both cities converged on the scene, but even before they arrived citizens in private cars had begun to take survivors to the hospital.

Preston Fire Department volunteers were among the first arrivals.

The task of checking in the survivors and treating the seriously injured swamped the facilities of Norwich's William Backus Hospital.

To a reporter seeking information about two hours after the accident, a harried hospital attendant said:

"We haven't asked anybody their names; we're just taking care of them."

More Than Half Inch Of Rain Falls On Parched Poconos

A HALF-INCH RAIN helped put the damper on forest fires in Monroe County yesterday.

District Forester E. C. Pyle called the rain "a blessing." To put a complete stop to disastrous forest fires in the area, however, Pyle said, a much heavier and more sustained rainfall would be needed.

Weather observer Pierre Lake said total rainfall in Stroudsburg for the 24-hour period was .51 of an inch. It was the largest single rainfall during the past two months.

Total rainfall for July was a scant 1.3 inches. Although the rainfall fell short of the needs in the area, the general consensus yesterday among farmers, agriculture agents and foresters was that the half-inch fall had "done some good" and provided temporary relief from the unusually severe summer drought.

The rain had a definite effect on temperatures throughout the county yesterday.

Stroudsburg's high was 72 degrees at about 3 p.m. It was 70 degrees at 7 p.m. The 8 a.m. reading yesterday was 60, Lake reported.

At the official weather station located at High Point, Mount Pocono, observer Harry Greene said total rainfall measured .65 of an inch. The high temperature for the day was 66.2 degrees at 3 p.m. The low was 57.2 early yesterday morning.

Trumatic's Team Vies For Trophy

THERE'S PLENTY of grunting and groaning in the Trumatic Machine and Tool Co. Inc. plant in East Stroudsburg RD this week.

A crew of 10 employees is throwing its combined 1,820 pounds at the end of a rope hoping for laurels in the Eastburg Highlights and Festival of Celebrities tug-of-war contest, Sunday, Aug. 15.

The Trumatic team is one of 12 which will vie for honors at the roundup where proceeds are earmarked to pay for a lighting system at East Stroudsburg High School's stadium.

Roster with the "pull" for Trumatic includes D. Miller, J. Metzgar and J. Counterman, all 190-pounders; D. Townsend, and H. Cramer, weighing in at 185; R. Staples and A. Kresge at 180; J. Zakowski and M. Miller at 175 and T. Van Buskirk, 170.

Two subs for Trumatic are real "big ones": Bill and Art Schiele, company executives rocking the scales at respective 220 and 250 pounds. A third, L. Kresge, weighs 150.

In addition to Trumatic, the tug-of-war field includes Ronson, International Boiler Works, Line Material, Worthington Mower, East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg fire departments, Lehigh Valley Co-op Dairy, Marsh's Foundry, Patterson-Kelley, Kulp's Foundry and Empire Box.

Probers Told Of Big Profits

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (UP)—Senate probers said today that Morris Cafritz, Washington builder, made a half-million-dollar profit on an FHA-insured apartment project and may wind up with property worth seven millions from an original $69,000 investment in land.

But Cafritz, appearing before the Senate Banking Committee, answered that Committee Counsel William Simon was being completely "hypothetical" and was trying to "build that up" for newspaper stories.

Cafritz, whose wife Gwen is one of the capital's most famous party givers, said the profits he made resulted from efficient building and good management.

Much borrowed money still must be paid back, he said, and if tenants move out of his properties he will be left holding the bag.

As the committee resumed its probe of alleged housing irregularities, there were these other developments:

1. Richard Vidaver of Chicago claimed protection of the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination, and refused to say whether he or his wife had made fat profits on home improvements financed by FHA-insured loans. When he would give only his name and address, he was ordered to appear in Chicago Sept. 15 for further questioning.

2. Franklin A. Trier of Richmond Va., testified he got a "capital gains distribution" of $365,000 and a $129,000 builder's fee out of his Lewis Gardens apartment near Richmond which later defaulted on its government-insured $3,884,400 mortgage.

Cafritz was questioned closely about a 588-unit apartment project for Negroes, called Parklands Manor, which he built under a $3,563,000 mortgage insured by the Federal Housing Administration. Simon said the project actually cost $522,000 less than the mortgage amount. Cafritz said that figure was not entirely right, but he gave none of his own.

Scholarship Awarded To ESHS Grad

CONSTANCE Gail Werkheiser, 198 Analomink St., East Stroudsburg, has been awarded one of the Senatorial scholarships administered by Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Pearl Werkheiser. She entered the June class at the University of Pennsylvania School of Nursing. The scholarship is good for four years at the university.

Miss Werkheiser was a 1954 graduate of East Stroudsburg High School where she ranked fifth in a class of 95.

In high school she was a member of the band, the school's Latin team, appeared in the junior play and was on the staffs of the yearbook and the school newspaper.

She was elected to membership in the National Honor Society. The scholarship was awarded to her on the basis of entrance tests and her scholastic standing in high school.

She was recently elected as a member of the Student Council of the Nurses' Association at the university.

MR. AND MRS. Gilmour Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Paul, granddaughter Leah, enjoyed Monday at Asbury Park. They also stopped at Trenton, N. J., where they enjoyed supper with Mrs. Anna Sharbaugh and family. Gilmour and Herman are enjoying a vacation from their respective places of employment.

The village is suffering from a deluge of bugs. They arrive around 9 o'clock at night and are attracted by the electric lights. They invade the homes as the screens are no bar. On the front porch of Herman Paul a quart was swept up Wednesday morning as they seem to die during the night.

George Butz, Glenn Wallingford and Dan Paul motored to Scranton Tuesday morning to purchase supplies for the Sunday School picnic to be held August 14.

"Of National Importance"

Mount Pocono Airport Authority, alerted to the possibility the United States Senate will approve a measure allocating $22 millions in federal aid to airports "of national importance," has moved out to make another attempt to obtain funds required to bring the airport up to modern air-travel standards.

Two problems face the Airport Authority which must be resolved, if a $100,000 project on file in Washington is prosecuted.

It will take not less than a $100,000 expenditure to bring Mount Pocono Airport up to standards set by federal aviation authorities for commercial airliner use. The Authority has complete plans and specifications on file with Washington's Civil Aeronautics Authority for such a project. Airport Authority has $10,000. It will need another $15,000 to set up required local funds. Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is to match that $25,000. Out of the $22 million dollar measure in the Senate now, the Authority must get a matching $50,000. Most important factor facing the Airport Authority is designation of the airport in the Poconos as one "of national importance."

On that phrase—which can be interpreted in numerous ways — apparently hangs the success or failure of the Airport Authority's current efforts.

Without anyone saying a word, the physical fact a $35,000,000 Signal Corps Depot is located only three miles from the airport, should settle the 'of national importance,' phrase. A map showing the relative locations should be sufficient.

High And Fast

In the first week of its test schedule, the new Boeing jet tanker-transport flew some 15 hours, climbed to 42,000 feet and reached a maximum speed of 550 miles an hour.

This, America's first plane to challenge the British jet transport program, can be used as a civil transport or as a jet tanker from which the high and fast flying fighters and bombers with their tremendous speeds can be fueled on their way to and from potential targets.

The Strategic Air Command, which daily and nightly flies many thousands of miles over our homeland and the contiguous oceans, needs an airborne tanker for its squadrons, since the propeller-driven tankers are too slow for the task and especially for those combat aircraft soon to fly. The new Boeing is one answer.

However, if you are thinking of buying a ticket to go from coast to coast, or on an overseas flight, in a jet airliner in the near future, we suggest that you relax and content yourself with the present day airplanes which around the clock are flying these routes.

It has been said by those who are building the new jet transports, experimentally, that it will be quite a few years before they can be tested, proved in every way, and manufactured in sufficient numbers to equip those airlines willing to pay the high price per model.

But if you are patient, the time is actually not too far distant when you can buy that ticket and go from coast to coast in a few hours, or to foreign shores in a slightly longer time. Truly, another giant step has been taken in man's search for the ideal vehicle of the skies.

High and fast, is the watchword.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Churchill's 'Blood, Sweat And Tears' First Used In '44 By James G. Birney

Politicians have long learned to use a phrase to stir the popular imagination. Such a phrase saves the people from the need for thinking. All they have to do is repeat the phrase over and over again and then they believe that it is true. Theodore Roosevelt invented the phrase, "The Square Deal," which actually had no precise political meaning. The assumption was that most politicians, when playing the card game, poker, then as popular as bridge or canasta is in this generation, dealt the cards from the bottom as well as off the top of the deck, but that Teddy dealt straight.

Franklin D. Roosevelt improved upon his distant cousin's phrase and made it "The New Deal," a rather confused adventure in politics and economics, having to do with doing at every political moment what came naturally without regard to the future. It was a most successful phrase because it gave Roosevelt four winning elections.

Winston Churchill came back into the politics of Great Britain, when it seemed as though Hitler would win World War II, with the dramatic phrase, "Blood, Sweat and Tears"—which is all that he could offer his people. It electrified them into resistance to the enemy. It stirred them to an historic effort of the greatest magnitude. It was a wonder-working phrase.

Imagine my surprise when I came across a political poster of 1844, headed "Hurrah for Birney & Liberty!" Never having heard of Birney but being a collector of anything that comes my way, I got a photograph of the poster from Larry Johnson who sells groceries in Syracuse and runs an old-fashioned country store.

It would seem that back in 1839, the Abolitionists, organizing the Liberty Party, nominated James G. Birney for the Presidency, but he declined. In 1843, they repeated this nomination of James G. Birney who got 62,000 votes in the election of 1844 which was sufficient to upset the hopes of Henry Clay and resulted in the election to the Presidency of James K. Polk.

The Birney poster contains the following paragraph:

"Anti-Monopolists, come and lend your aid for the overthrow of a mountain monopoly, compared with which all the other monopolies in this land are but as the 'small dust of the balance.' A monopoly whose capital is Twelve Hundred Millions of Dollars, all invested in human muscles and bones and sinews, and which, in its results, not only extracts from its immediate victims their toil and sweat and tears and blood, but annually drains uncounted millions from the pockets of the free North, and renders American Republicanism a hissing and by-word on the lips of all the Despots of the Old World."

There is no reason to believe that Winston Churchill ever heard of James G. Birney or his poster and we must assume that Churchill invented, "Blood, Sweat and Tears" out of his own head, he being very good at that sort of thing.

But this is an interesting historic fact. The Birney poster was for two mass meetings in Madison County, New York State. For years this particular poster hung in a country store in a town called Canaseraga in Madison County. Probably because nobody could pronounce Canaseraga, they changed the name to Sullivan which is what the town is now called to the everlasting joy of the Irish. Not many miles away is Pompey, a town in which, I am informed, lived a fine American girl, Jenny Jerome, who in due course became the mother of Winston Churchill.

Now, there it is. Winston Churchill got his wonder-working phrase pre-natally by osmosis. If you do not believe that, you will not believe that Bacon wrote Shakespeare, that Sam Rosenman wrote Franklin D. Roosevelt's speeches, that sometimes Haydn wrote Mozart and vice-versa, that nobody ever ruled his own. You must wonder that Socrates never wrote a book or why the learned and wise and fat Dr. Johnson has come down to us through the gay and somewhat profligate Scotsman, Boswell.

Well, I offer no explanation for these phenomena. But the Birney poster is real even if Birney is so forgotten that his name is hardly an historic memory as it is with so many other candidates for the Presidency. As for Winston Churchill, he still holds forth in fine Georgian English, the master phrase-maker of our time.

The Once Over

Rubirosa and the Western Unless the U. S. Immigration Service is permitting itself to be used in a Hollywood publicity stunt, we may see Senator, the Supreme Court, party leaders and even the White House ultimately drawn into the issue of whether the United States should be compelled to take Portio Rubirosa and Zsa Zsa Gabor in a movie western. Portio, all set to star with Zsa Zsa in a capitalization of publicity resulting from a scandalous degrading of matrimony as a sacrament and as a binding thing, has been stymied by the California Immigration Office, and his lawyer, Michael Kohn, has filed an appeal with the Washington headquarters. We deeply suspect press agency. But if the Immigration people are leveling and do not let a quick brushing off of wedding (and a couple of black eyes) become the excuse for a movie glorification of two principals, there may be excitement ahead into which even the United Nations will figure.

Rubirosa was first blocked by a ruling that he was here on a visa which did not entitle him to work. He then asked for a special permit to work as a movie actor. The permit was refused on the grounds that he had no experience in movies. (Ya mean his performances have been all in REAL LIFE! ! !). Portio and Zsa Zsa seem to rate in importance somewhere between the Indo-Chinese crisis and the Suez Canal situation. Washington can get into the act. We would not be surprised if President Eisenhower had to announce his Rubirosa-Gabor policy. Zsa Zsa has no trouble over a permit. She turns up everywhere with what must be the proper registration and operating licenses.

We think Portio can prove he is a movie actor and that he falls somewhere between the late Rudy Valentino and Heigh-Ho-Silver in public appeal. We see something of Sabu, the late John Barrymore and Johnny Weissmuller of Tarzan fame in him. He is handsome in a Latin way, wears clothes well and is certainly a figure in the world of romance. In the scheduled western, he might prove quite a cowboy up to a point where he made it up to appoint where he made it up to "I'm a Lone Cowboy" or "Home on the Range." It is possible he might prove to be the first cowboy to play the uke or banjo with a polo mallet.

There is talk of a big scene in which Portio, ambushed by the U. S. Immigration agents, is rescued by a posse headed by Zsa Zsa on her pinto pony, "Black Eyes." We wouldn't know, but we think of nothing America needs less than a Hollywood movie based on publicity in marriage matters which at no time smelled good in most American homes. ("Tex" Rubirosa? . . . "Shane" Rubirosa? . . . "Cheyenne" Rubirosa? . . . "Porfirio the Kid"? . . . None of 'em sounds good. And fancy a western with a girl cast as "Calamity" Zsa Zsa! ! !)

POOR LITTLE RICH BOY

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

Patriotism Is Felt More Intensely By Refugees

With all due respect to our Memorial Day and Fourth of July orators and celebrants, it seems to me that patriotism is something that is felt much more intensely by refugees and foreigners than by native Americans.

It seems that to appreciate something fully one must first have lost it or gone without it for a long time. Constant possession of a thing seems to dull one's appreciation of it and make, for instance, a rare jewel merely a piece of ordinary jewelry.

We here in America take liberty so much for granted that we hardly think about it at all, and an active expression of one's patriotism may well be mistaken for softness or excessive sentimentality. And if there is one thing the American—and especially the American male—is deadly afraid of it is to be classified as a sentimentalist.

A glorious example of patriotism is Miss Alice Masaryk, daughter of Thomas Masaryk, first president of Czechoslovakia, and sister of Jan Masaryk, who gave his life in the struggle for his country's freedom.

Miss Masaryk is 75, and first came to this country almost 50 years ago to study social work. Somehow she never applied for American citizenship until last year, but now she will soon become a citizen, the Senate having passed a bill which will give her permanent residence in the United States.

She has learned a lot about liberty in the United States.

"The most important thing in the world," she told an interviewer, "is to develop individual conscience toward social responsibility." How different from the Communist concept which forbids all individual conscience and all sense of individual social responsibility!

"In 1939 I thought that war would be the only way to liberate my country from the Nazis," she said. "But now I see that war brings so many terrible things in its wake that there is no guaranty of a democratic future for any country involved."

"Nor do I think there is much chance for a successful revolution, for what chance has revolution against atom bombs? But nevertheless I continue to hope that somehow Czechoslovakia will be liberated—how else could I go on living?"

One might say that Miss Masaryk is what we used to call a "hyphenated American," but nothing could be farther from the truth. She simply compares the hopeless conditions in the Iron Curtain countries with the glorious freedom we have here in America and hopes that, not by revolution but by some miracle, the country of her birth might follow America's example and someday also become free.

Now to an altogether different subject, whose only relation to the one above is that it also deals with the fact that we don't appreciate something which we have all the time.

A Maskegon, Mich., reader writes: "Why are so many men reluctant to admit LOVE for the woman they once said they couldn't live without? Perhaps they are a bit afraid of ridicule from their fellow men. Have you an explanation?"

I haven't. But maybe you married men would like to put this in your pipe and smoke it awhile.

Try and Stop Me

In Rome, an earnest young student in the Vatican Library was engaged in reading the works of a now obscure philosopher who died 170 years ago. Ploughing doggedly through the folio, he came suddenly upon a piece of paper on which was written, "The finder of this is advised to go to the Probate Court and look up File 162, R. L./Rome, February 5, 1784." The paper bore the deceased philosopher's signature. The student followed through on the file to discover that the author had left his entire fortune—now totalling some 300,000 pounds—to the first person sufficiently interested in his work to get so far through the volumes. The result of the student's windfall was two-fold: the student himself flew to the French Riviera, and the next day the rush on eighteenth century philosophy tomes in the Vatican Library resembled the first day's ticket sale for a new Rodgers and Hammerstein musical.

U. S. Prepared For War To Hold Formosa Free

Washington — The U. S. is prepared to go to war to hold Formosa.

Far-reaching military measures have been taken to meet anything Red China may attempt on that sinister announcement about "liberating" the strategic island.

This bellicose threat is taken with utmost seriousness. It confirmed what Intelligence had already reported regarding Peiping's plans. From the Chinese mainland, captured documents and other authoritative sources, it was known that the Reds' next aggression is aimed at Formosa.

With cease-fires in effect in Korea and Indo-China, the Communists can now throw their full weight against Formosa. They are engaged in the initial "softening up" process.

The murderous assault on the unarmed British airliner was one of these moves.

The destruction of this scheduled passenger plane was not an accident, as hypocritically claimed by Peiping. It has been definitely established this was a carefully-planned and deliberate attack that was perpetrated for two reasons:

(1) As a jolting warning to the British on the precariousness of their rule over Hongkong, and (2) for the malevolent purpose of venting their hatred and fury at the U. S. by killing Ambassador William Donovan, who they believed was on the plane enroute to Thailand.

That's why U. S. reaction to this outrage has been so militant. And it will continue to be regardless of what London does. Washington considers the matter far from closed.

Battle for Formosa.—For obvious security reasons, little can be disclosed regarding the extensive measures that have been instituted to insure an all-out defense of Formosa.

Two things can be stated: (1) The brunt of this defense will be borne by American forces, the Nationalist troops are cast in a secondary role; (2) the fighting will not be confined to Formosa, China itself would quickly become the major battleground.

A highly significant step has already been taken on that. The Navy has been ordered to patrol the entire China coast.

Friendly powers have been notified this is not a blockade. It is a patrol against hostile military action by the Reds. The measure was recommended by Admiral Radford, head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and approved by the National Security Council.

Other publishable developments are: The Formosa Patrol has been doubled in strength and put under the command of a Navy aviator — Rear Admiral Frederick Kivette. His powerful force now includes an Air Group and a large Marine contingent.

U. S. defenses of Formosa have been extended to take in the Pescadores, a chain of islands between Formosa and the Chinese mainland. Admiral Kivette has established his operational headquarters in this advanced zone.

Rear Admiral Truman Hedding, former Formosa Patrol commander, has been summoned to Washington and put in charge of strategic planning under the Joint Chiefs of Staff. One of his jobs is the formulation of Far Eastern operational plans.

Arms and other combat supplies that had been earmarked for Indo-China are now being stockpiled on Formosa.

Steps also are being taken to regain possession of huge quantities of equipment in French hands in Indo-China. In the past several years, the U. S. sent more than $1,000,000,000 in armaments there.

President Eisenhower, in order to salvage as much of this equipment as possible, has invoked a provision of the military assistance agreement with France under which the U. S. can require the return of arms not used for their specified purpose. Negotiations with Paris are now underway on this.

Also under consideration are French requests for upwards of $600,000,000 in payment for war costs in Indo-China.

Prior to the armistice, approximately $160,000,000 had been turned over to the French. This money was paid out of the $800,000,000 voted by Congress for Southeast Asia last year. Foreign Aid Director Harold Stassen is holding up further disbursements pending a policy decision by the Security Council.

Bankers Look At The Area

—by H. G. Heller

Ever look at the Pocono Mountains region and the territory surrounding it from a banker's perspective?

Take the geographic regions of the Third Federal Reserve District which pack around the Pocono Mountains heavily to the West and South, lightly on the North and ends along the Delaware River to the Poconos' East. This district is the smallest and one of the most highly industrialized of the nation's twelve Federal Reserve Districts. Only 37,000 square miles in area, the district embraces the eastern two-thirds of Pennsylvania, the southern half of New Jersey, and the State of Delaware.

While the district accounts for only 1.2 per cent of the country's land area, the eight and a half million people who live within its borders, nevertheless, constitute 5.6 per cent of the country's population.

Cutting across this district are no less than 12 major geographic areas with fully 35 per cent of the gainfully employed people of the district holding jobs in manufacturing in contrast to 25 per cent for the United States.

One of the twelve geographic areas is listed as the "Pocono Resort Region." Federal Reserve describes it in this manner:

"East of the Black Diamond Country is another highland section with no minerals, farms and manufacturing enterprises. Hunting and fishing are good because the Ice Age carved out numerous lakes and endowed the region with clear, cold water and beautiful waterfalls. Moreover, the section has just enough elevation to provide cool summer climate and other endowments by nature, so that the region has become a great vacation land."

"The mining, dairyland and forest regions receive descriptive attention from the Federal Reserve Bank delineation of varied characteristics of the district's major geographic areas."

In its study the Bank notes that diversification "is the one best word" to describe the region at large, as well as its industrial pattern.

This banker's perspective of our Federal Reserve District bears out the confidence we in the Pocono Mountains area have in the dynamics of what we are pleased to call "our area."

The clincher is found in the Bank's concluding statement:

"The district still has all the natural advantages which contributed to its development as a great area . . ."

N. Y. Confidential —by Lee Mortimer

Hot weather item: That was not the heat that felled Lisa Kirk, the sexy songbird, at Las Vegas. It was her tight gown, (Dior on a body not by Dior.)

The lowdown: About the only advantage of getting old in this business is that you can sit back and annoy people with stories about the stars you discovered. Consequently as the years go on you become more objectionable (in a geometric progression) because these tales have a tendency to proliferate until quite often, to prove a point, you are claiming Elton Barrymore, the Loch Ness Monster, and Tom Thumb, the noted midget.

However, I can prove it by the files that I gave Lisa Kirk her first break in print, though when I reread in the quietude of my study what I wrote seven years ago this month after interviewing her in the hectic atmosphere of a Second Ave. barroom, I am wondering if I did not allow my enthusiasm to carry me over a few whoppers in her story, or, in other words, maybe she sold me a bill of goods.

According to my earlier recollection Lisa's chief handicap was that she looked too much like a seaside Venus, if that can be a handicap.

It was said she was fired from the high school debating team in Roscoe, Pa., because the boys said her curves distracted them so much they couldn't keep their minds on the argument.

Also she lost her job as a Sunday school teacher for a similar reason.

She hankered for a law career but was hooted out of the law office because she upset the decorum of the clerks.

So she studied singing. Her teacher took one look at her and said, "You'll be a great success even if you can't sing."

After completing the course she packed her little cardboard bag and hopped a bus to Times Square. She carried an extra handkerchief, a roll of sheet music and a note from her ex-legal boss to Emil K. Ellis, a barrister for many theatrical people.

Ellis saw what the others saw and said "Kid, you're a natural." So he took her to the chi chi Versailles restaurant and introduced her to Nick Pronin. She asked the impresario to listen to her, but before she got the words out of her mouth he practically shouted, "You're hired — as a show girl." It was that bathing beaut figure of hers again.

She undulated there for several months but her heart wasn't in her work. The masculine hoars in the audience were, though.

There was only one thing to do, that was to "de-batinate beault" herself. She eliminated the make-up, wore unflattering suits and flat-heeled shoes, and went to auditions for legit shows.

It is well known on Broadway that the dowdier you look the better chance you have in the legit theatre. That's because it's Art. She landed roles in three.

The O. Henry ending is now coming up.

Versailles restaurant (at that time) eliminated its chorus line and went in for solo singing acts — big names like Edith Piaf and Jean Sablon. They needed a girl singer for a Summer spot, between the stars.

An agent submitted Lisa, but Pronin, remembering her name, said he didn't believe a babe with her looks could sing, and anyway why should she?

So Lisa got mad. She went out and made a recording. She borrowed an unflattering picture from a friend and had her agent submit the platter under a phony name.

They went for the voice and hired the gal sight unseen. When she showed up for work it was the same Lisa Kirk who had been their omphic choryphoe.

Her engagement was extended to four months and since then she's become one of the top song stylists in the business.

So you can see what I mean by saying that she was a victim of a tight gown.

East Borough Council Takes Action On Water Problems

Buys Pond, Bans Outside Use Of Water

EAST STROUDSBURG Council took two vital steps last night — one to save water and one to get rid of it.

The more expensive step dealt with getting rid of the water.

Council approved purchase of Gregory's Ice Pond for $10,000 as a step toward solving drainage problems.

Councilman Elton P. Hall moved to buy the pond, make a down payment, and have council agree to pay half the real estate transfer tax.

The motion was approved unanimously.

According to a plan set out by Engineer Edward C. Hess in June, the pond would be drained of most of its water. In the event of heavy rain the drainage water would run into the pond instead of overflowing through streets and ditches.

The pond has a one-million-gallon capacity, according to Hess. It would take six days of rain at three inches of rain a day to fill it. The pond will drain a 400-acre area, and will solve 95 per cent of the borough's drainage problem, Hess thinks.

The pond property is located along the Franklin Hill road a short distance east of N. Courtland St., and comprises 9.6 acres.

The move to save water came in the form of an ordinance prepared at council's request by Solicitor Charles R. Bensinger Jr. The new ordinance prohibits outside use of water in the borough when council "deems it necessary" for the public good.

The ordinance carries a $10 to $25 fine for violation.

Unanimous approval was voted, and the ordinance takes effect immediately.

Council followed up by passing a resolution to the effect that a water crisis exists, and that the ordinance be applied.

Borough Superintendent Henry Lesoine reported that the level of water in the reservoir is lower at present than it was last year at this time.

Street Signs May Be Bought

FIRST STEP toward a full program of erecting street signs in East Stroudsburg was made last night by borough council.

The erection of street signs or markers has been discussed for years but little action has been initiated.

Last night's step was a proposal by councilman Roy Lloyd that council obtain the cost of signs for all of Courtland St. from the State bridge to the borough limits on Milford road, and on Brown St. to the borough limits.

This was an amendment of an original motion by Lloyd that the signs definitely be erected on the two streets. A discussion of costs followed, and it was determined to first get the exact costs of such a program.

Council also enlarged its agreement to include a survey of the entire borough to find out cost of placing signs on every borough street corner.

"Also, how about having a sign that says something like 'Welcome To East Stroudsburg — Protect Our Children' instead of '35 Miles An Hour—Speed Limit Strictly Enforced,'" Lloyd added.

Burgess Jesse S. Flory told council he had gotten a large number of complaints about the lack of street signs in the borough.

Control of speeders on borough streets was another question which occupied considerable of council's time last night.

Flory said he didn't believe it was sufficient to go at the problem piece-meal. He told council he felt it would be necessary to go deeply into the question rather than trying to solve it by putting up a sign on one street or another.

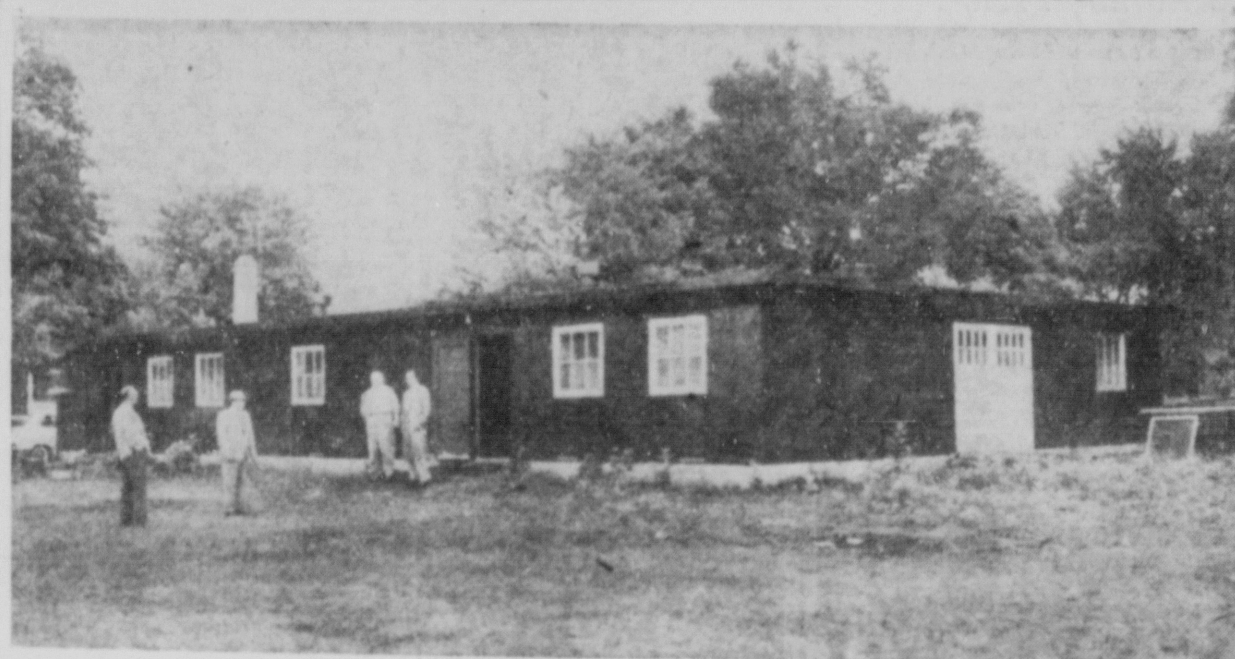

Council President Harold Wiggins suggested, "Why not take the bull by the horns and survey the entire community for speed control?"

Council agreed to this move; each councilman will survey his own ward, together with Flory, and a final report and discussion of the results will be made at a later meeting.

Council moved to rent land from the over-head bridge to Brown St. from the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad for $1 a month so that a sidewalk may be built on the west side of the street.

Flory's police report listed a number of suggestions from officers on how to increase service to the borough residents and visitors. Some of the suggestions: more route marking and directional signs at key intersections—especially signs directing traffic to Delaware Water Gap Bridge; an extension of the red-light police call system; street signs and markings; and scales for the weighing of trucks so that overweight vehicles may be properly fined. (Flory pointed out that the fines are retained for use of the borough).

Flory said he had received a letter from the State on his proposal for one-way traffic through the

State Allocates $12,325 To Child Guidance Center

HARRISBURG, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Welfare Department today approved allocation of $12,325 in state aid to 16 local clinics for mental health work.

Recipients included Children's Service Center of Wyoming Valley, $4,000; Child Psychiatric and Guidance Center of Lackawanna County, Scranton, $12,700; Erie Guidance Center, $11,500; Child Guidance Center, Northampton - Monroe counties, Easton, $12,325.

business district. The plan has met with no State disapproval, but the letter required filling out of a batch of new forms. The forms were made out and filed three weeks ago, the burgess said. Nothing further has yet been heard on the project.

Solicitor Charles R. Bensinger Jr. gave council members drafts of the proposed police pension fund ordinance for study. Among the provisions are life insurance for each participant; and a three-man board of trustees to administer the fund. Its members would be the burgess or acting burgess; a patrolman selected by his fellow officials; and one trustee selected by council.

Council approved adoption of two ordinances on streets. One sets grades and curb lines on Yetter St., for curb and gutter and storm drainage. Only the storm drainage work is planned this year. The other allows the borough to buy four rights of way from private citizens to allow for extension of Chestnut St.

Councilmen also were given a report and advice on why algae grew in the borough pool recently. Assistant Engineer C. H. Kluck of the State Health Department sat down at council table to tell borough officials the result of his tests and checking at the pool.

The State had been alerted by borough officials, he said, when the pool water turned green and a "juicy growth" was found covering the surface. The pool was later closed for three or four days.

A laboratory analysis of the water and scum showed there was nothing harmful to humans in the pool. The growth turned out to be one of the scores of types of algae. The growth was cleared out by use of 150 pounds of copper sulfate together with extensive filtering.

Kluck mentioned a number of elements which permit algae growth, and urged council to take prompt steps to eliminate these. Chief point was proper chlorination, he stressed.

The engineer said the chlorinator definitely needs replacement; and he suggested certain adjustments of the chlorine intake regulator and of the filter back-wash.

Barracks From Reservation Rebuilt In East Stroudsburg

TWO BARRACKS formerly used by the Pennsylvania National Guard and U. S. Army personnel for training at Tobyhanna following World War One have been converted into a large headquarters on Day St., East Stroudsburg, for borough firemen and civil defense crews.

Brought here in sections, then erected on a concrete block foundation, the 44 by 80-foot single story steel building will be utilized for various work projects, but primarily will serve as a central point to house families in the event of a serious disaster or in emergency situations.

Jack Anderson, former county civil defense director, currently in charge of all Eastern Pennsylvania for the Pennsylvania Council of Civil Defense, was joined yesterday by county and borough officials in inspecting the building.

In the group were Judge Fred W. Davis, county executive director; Paul Crown, county CD director; Thomas Kistler, newly appointed East Stroudsburg CD director; Marvin Abel, East Stroudsburg fire chief and B. E. Weber, fire company engineer.

Anderson explained the buildings were purchased by the State Civil Defense Council in 1953 from the Federal government, then allocated to various county groups on request.

Three of the buildings were requested in Monroe County, Anderson said. One currently is situated on the Middle Stroud Township Fire Co. property on Bridge St., the other two going to East Stroudsburg.

Abel, according to Anderson, placed the request for barracks-type buildings in 1951. Acme Hose Co., East Stroudsburg, employed a local trucking firm to bring the sections from Tobyhanna and work was started to convert the two buildings into one large structure. Abel said the costs will be between $5,000 and $10,000 when finished.

Now located on the grounds where firemen hold their annual carnival, the building was used recently during a festival. Later, Abel said, firemen plan holding practice sessions and a fire school in the building.

Double doors at the east end of the structure are large enough for firemen to drive in an engine, Abel said. He anticipated such action in the winter months when outdoor training sessions are not feasible.

Four single doors, two on both the north and south sides of the building, will serve as entrances. Inside the large building are three rows of fluorescent lights to provide ample illumination; two rest rooms; a boiler room where an oil fired, forced hot air furnace will

48 Arrests Reported For Month

ARRESTS in East Stroudsburg totaled 48 in July, Burgess Jesse S. Flory said last night.

Largest number, 13, were for drunk and disorderly.

Second largest number of arrests was for speeding.

Other arrests were: eight stop signs; five to fast for conditions; four red light; two no operators license; three disorderly conduct; one overtime parking, one improper parking.

Fines totaled $300, of which $20 went to the State.

One peddler's license was sold for $25. Two electric sign permits were sold for $10 each.

Sued For $50,000

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP)—The city of New York was sued for $50,000 today in the death of a woman who choked to death on a pickle while a patient in a city hospital.

Abel, according to Anderson, placed the request for barracks-type buildings in 1951. Abel said the costs will be between $5,000 and $10,000 when finished.

No Charges To Be Filed In Fatality

NO CHARGES will be filed in the death of Joseph Gartva, Ebervale, who died Monday 23 hours after an auto-truck accident on Effort Mountain.

Fern Ridge State police said last night they had conferred with Monroe County District Attorney Elmer Christine by telephone in Philadelphia. Police said they had gone over the case thoroughly with Christine and no prosecution would be made "because Gartva was in the wrong."

Gartva was one of five persons injured in the 5:30 p. m. wreck Sunday on Route 115. Police reported the accident occurred when Gartva's car went off onto the shoulder of the highway a few inches, veered back in a sharp diagonal across the highway, then smashed broadside into the path of a truck.

Operator of the truck was William Altomose, Effort. Gartva's death Monday in General Hospital brought Monroe County's total traffic fatalities so far this year up to 12. It was the second death caused by a wreck on Effort Mountain.

Abel said there are enough other sections remaining to build a 40-foot addition, and indicated that in the future this possibly might be done to add a kitchen to the building.

Signs To Direct Motorists To Two-Hour Parking Meters In Off-Main Street Areas

STROUDSBURG BUSINESS Men's Association this week authorized its parking committee to place signs at Fifth, Sixth and Seventh Sts. on Main.

Purpose of the signs is to direct customers to two-hour parking meters in the off-Main St. areas along Monroe and Sarah Sts.

Members of the association presented various suggestions for providing relief to borough parking problems. No action was taken in this matter, however, since further steps "are in the hands of the borough council."

Jack Kerlin, head of the parking committee, reported that an unbiased survey has been asked concerning Stroudsburg's traffic congestion.

Primary aim of the survey would be to determine where a Route 611 thruway should be located, the committee said.

The association agreed to make a campaign to raise funds for the annual Christmas lighting system immediately. Estimated amount for this year's fund will be $2,000, a spokesman said. Merchants are to be asked to increase the amount of their contributions this year.

Further plans were also made for The Daily Record's "Get Acquainted Week" beginning Sept. 13 in which Stroudsburg merchants are cooperating. Most merchants present at this week's meeting said they intend to advertise special values during the special week-long observance.

The meeting was held Monday night at Albino's on Lackawanna Trail between Stroudsburg and Bartonsville.

Stroudsburg State police said the accident occurred on L. R. 45007 at 6:45 p.m. No one was injured; no charges were filed. Police said the two cars collided on a slight curve in the road.

Drivers of the vehicles were Robert W. Field, 18, of Stroudsburg RD3, and Arthur Jahr, 47, of Stroudsburg RDI.

Heart Attack Claims Life Of Vacationist

A 20-YEAR-OLD Pocono Mountains vacationist died of a heart attack en route to the General Hospital late Monday night after being stricken on the dance floor at a regional resort.

Miss Carol Jaesche was taken ill about 11:30 p.m., according to Coroner Charles Rushmore. She rested in a chair while the ambulance was en route but was dead when she reached the hospital, authorities said.

Miss Jaesche had been vacationing with three other girls. It was learned and had gone to Marshalls Creek for the dance. It was not immediately determined if she previously suffered from a heart condition.

Dr. Rushmore issued the certificate of death due to a heart attack. The body was released to the William Clark funeral home, Stroudsburg, then taken to Union City, N. J. She was employed as a secretary for a firm near her home.

Miss Jaesche was born in Teaneck, N. J., daughter of Mrs. Jeanne Tidwell and the late Alfred Jaesche. Surviving are her mother and stepfather, Harry F. Tidwell, of Union City.

In 1953 people in Connecticut made an average of 3,871,000 telephone calls a day.

Antiques Show Opening Day Breaks Records In Visitors; Benefits Local Hospital

Records were tumbling at the tenth annual Pocono Antiques Show and Sale which opened at the East Stroudsburg Armory yesterday at 1. The largest number of dealers, the most first-day visitors, the largest number of sales, all combined to bring in the most proceeds for the General Hospital. It is for the hospital that the General Hospital Auxiliary sponsors the show each year.

Dealers from seven states and the District of Columbia filled every available space, including the balcony, with their choicest treasures. The rainy weather, combined with a following which has grown from year to year, increased the attendance.

One exhibitor, enthusiastically praising the show, said that more people had visited her booth, and she had sold more articles in the opening day here than in a full week at a similar show in New England this summer.

The reasons people were buying were evident also, with the great variety providing something to suit every taste and to provide additions to every hobbist's collection.

Dominating the show this year is the huge painting, 9 x 12 feet, hung on the far wall. It is by floodlights, the colors of the 90-year-old painting glow brilliantly. It is a painting of Christ before Pilate, and is one of 27 similar canvases of the same size on the life of Christ.

Other exhibits include everything from antique furniture to buttons, from almost priceless sets of antique china to a collection of old cigarette and cigar cards.

There were many children among yesterday's visitors and they, too, found many things of interest particularly among the ancient toys: mechanical banks, iron toys like the fire engine with three horses, stuffed animals, china dolls, and miniature furniture.

Men, too, were among the visitors. Wooden decoys, old guns, ancient whistles, powder horns, mustache cups, and iron hardware were among the things to draw their interest.

Other unusual items noted in a circle of the floor were sewing birds, painted ironstone china, nutmeg graters, huge tortoise shell combs, old valentines, cookie cutters and tin match holders, glass decanter tops, ancient tiles, old music boxes, some with rolls and some with flat metal discs; daguerreotypes, a Victorian wall-type telephone which had been made into a lamp, and finally, seeming to take a dispassionate view of the whole show, a cigar store Indian.

The cafeteria manned by women from the auxiliary did a brisk business in the basement. The main-floor refreshment stand in the entrance way was manned by Girl Scouts.

By the time you negotiated the traffic between Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg yesterday afternoon you were quite old and antique enough to fit right in with the articles on exhibit at the Antiques Show.

Everybody—natives as well as summer visitors—seemed to think that the first rainy day all summer would be a wonderful time to go shopping, go to the movies, or visit the Antiques Show. And they all arrived at the same spot simultaneously.

There was a time when I thought it would be quicker to park the car and walk but there weren't any parking spaces. And besides that was before I tried to cross Washington Street on foot.

However, the General Hospital Auxiliary members were rejoicing at the weather and the traffic and the visitors—they really had a banner day with the registrars being kept so busy they never got a chance to see the show until after their tour of duty ended.

Dr. Miller To Visit Women In Latin America Colleges

By JEAN EADS
Washington—Dr. Minnie M. Miller of Emporia, Kan., takes off on a four months' tour of Latin America August 1 to talk with college women in numerous countries and to invite their cooperation in a program of international fellowship and understanding.

Regional vice president for the southwest-central section of the American Assn. of University Women, Dr. Miller has been named representative of the International Federation to visit university women's groups already in existence in such countries as Mexico, Uruguay and Brazil, and study the possibilities of forming new associations in other countries. She also will visit Haiti, the Dominican Republic and Cuba.

The percentage of university-trained women is not as high in Central and South America countries as in the United States, but Dr. Miller says women have had relatively free access to college education.

In Latin American countries college women usually go into professional life, whereas in this country about half of them are homemakers, she said.

"University women can promote good will," Dr. Miller told me on a recent visit to Washington. "I am hoping that by the goodwill expressed by the organization I represent, we may be able in a sense to help counteract some anti-American feelings."

Dr. Miller is also a delegate to the International Congress for UNESCO, to be held in Montevideo late in November, as a representative of the International Federation of University Women.

Head of the foreign language department of the State Teachers College at Emporia, Dr. Miller has been twice decorated by the French government. She has the gold and silver academic palms given to teachers of French for promotion of understanding.

She also speaks Spanish fluently. She has been a leading figure in the exchange of college women with Mexico in her southwest central section of Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Arkansas.

Though she lives in a small bungalow in Emporia near the college where she is a popular figure on the campus, her hobby is farming. She grows wheat and corn on nearby acres, loves to go out and boss.

"What on earth will I say in tomorrow's column?" I queried aimlessly in the lounge yesterday morning.

"You think YOU have a problem," retorted one of our recent brides. "What do you think I do, with a letter to write every day?"

"It isn't the same," I argued. "Just think what would happen to me if I filled the space with 'I love you, I love you, I love you'?"

You see, I know all about daily letter writing. Every woman who has ever been in love with a man who lived outside the borough limits, has probably gone through the same tender ordeal for months on end. And probably for more than one stretch, in the manner of the hardened criminal. However, it does seem that writing paper is much more beautiful now than in the days, more than a decade ago, when I was overworking the poor, unhappy postman.

If I remember correctly, there was a question even at that time as to whether or not decorated paper was in the very best taste, and those of us who longed for white with a fancy, but colorless touch, invested rather lavishly in a heavy paper into which had been pressed a humpy, bumpy but entrancing rose pattern. It was beautiful, as I recall, for LOOKING at. But for writing on, it was a miserable business, with one's writing going uphill over a posy and down hill into the valley between posies. Whatever the manufacturer had been thinking of when he placed this on the market, is rather hard to conceive.

But today! Aaaaah—what a gorgeous, colorful difference. If you haven't received many letters lately, come into our stationery department some fine day and look over the thousand and one boxes on our shelves. It's no wonder at all that visitors say, "I always wait until I come here in the summer to buy my writing paper. You have a better assortment than our city stores."

We preen at this compliment—because it's deserved. We know that they are right—I mean RIGHT. For twenty-five, fifty or seventy-five cents one can find tiny notes that will fit any mood, humorous, coy, or formal. There are plain white papers just perfect for extending or accepting an invitation . . . there are others that explain why you haven't written, or ask subtly why THEY haven't. There are papers sprinkled with flowers . . . amusingly brightened by woodland creatures . . . or made jewel-like by the glint of butterfly wings. There are saucy papers . . . dainty papers . . . and preciously old-fashioned papers.

And there are papers so romantic they actually go together. I mean it—they are white with a column of tiny blue or purple flowers at the left hand side. Are you in love? This is the stationery upon which to say so! Are you fastidiously dainty? This is the stationery that will prove it. Are you thankful? The 50c box contains matching note-size papers that are just the right size to express it.

The trouble with most of us is that we don't write half enough. A newspaper will ask an opinion, but only a few readers take the trouble to express one. A movie actress, or a television star, will move us profoundly with an inspired performance, but fan letters seem silly. An elderly friend is having a birthday . . . a little boy has the measles . . . an acquaintance is bedfast. A bit of mail might brighten anyone's day—but maybe we forget. I for one plead guilty. What about you? Surely the stationery isn't stationary! Maybe we are. Maybe we're turning from human beings into automations with no emotions to express. I sometimes wonder.

Speakers were George Walker, borough councilman in Mount Pocono, and Frank Lanterman who appeared as a guest of Walt Fossa to discuss the all-star show being given at East Stroudsburg Memorial Stadium on Sunday, Aug. 15.

Deadline for the purchase of tickets to the show is Aug. 8. Lanterman said. All proceeds from the ticket sale go toward purchase of a lighting system for the stadium.

Stars of the show will be Jane Froman, Connie Mack, Sterling Holloway, Olympic Champion Tumbling teams and other well-known sports figures. All seats to the celebrity show will be reserved.

Fossa is offering a week's free vacation to the holder of a lucky ticket during the sale.

In his talk on Mount Pocono, Councilman Walker said the borough is the largest in area in Monroe County, made up of 2,400 acres. Mount Pocono—with 700 persons—ranks third in population in the county, he said.

Highest elevation in the borough is 1,983 feet, Walker said. The borough's assessed value is $630,000 while market value is $2½ million, he reported.

RILEY

Sports Editor

Our kids came to the end of the road in the state Little League playoffs on Monday, but in so doing covered themselves with glory. I use the word "our" because everyone in the area should have adopted the East Stroudsburg Little League team for the fine manner in which it conducted itself during the playoff grind which ended in a 4-2 loss at the hands of Northwest Wilkes-Barre on Monday.

Every youngster on the East Stroudsburg club that won the District Four championship for the first time deserves the world of credit and special praise from every resident of this area. The kids fought from behind on two occasions to gain victories and in doing so served notice that they will be heard from in future years and in other forms of athletics.

Even while losing to Wilkes-Barre the Eastburg lads had the huge crowd of approximately 1,000 people on its feet in the final inning. Trailing by two runs and facing the grim reality that the first two hitters in the order had been retired the local lads went down fighting. Evan Reese and Bill Bond followed with successive singles to left and left center field that missed being home runs by only a matter of a couple feet.

Joe Steele went down on strikes to end the game, but only after trying desperately not to "break" his wrists on the final pitch. Joe tried so hard to keep the home town hopes alive that he fell into the dirt while trying to keep from swinging at the final pitch. John Pennell, hard working catcher who won the heart of everyone during the series, cried bitterly at the end of the game and shouldered the entire blame.

Anyone with even the smallest amount of baseball knowledge realizes that John was all wrong in taking the blame for the 4-2 loss to Wilkes-Barre. Instead he will be remembered as the lad who drove home five runs in two games and each time one of his hits plated the winning run in a 2-1 nod over McAdoo and an 8-6 victory over Trexcock. This is the same lad who lined what appeared to be an extra base hit to right field in the fourth, with the bases loaded, only to have the ball speared out of the air by Joe Hurley, Wilkes-Barre first sacker.

We could go on for hours raving about the fine play of the various youngsters, including the grab of a low throw by first baseman Doug Metzger in the fourth inning against Wilkes-Barre, with the bases loaded and two outs. There was a multitude of good plays during the five playoff contests, a host of thrilling hits and some fine base running which brought the kids closer to the people of the community than at any time in the past.

Charley "Butch" Lupin pitched well enough to win most games and appeared out of trouble in the fifth before Hurley drove the ball over second base with runners on second and third and two men out. This was the hit that won the ball game and broke Lupin's playoff win streak at two and the youngster's heart. Jimmy Gerard also pitched East Stroudsburg to a pair of playoff wins.

The spirit and will of the East Stroudsburg youngsters bears watching in future years and leads one to believe that East Stroudsburg High will shine in all sports in the not too distant future. The entire situation was summed up by Dr. Winston Fegley, director of District Four, as he watched East Stroudsburg score five runs in the last inning to defeat Trexcock and then threaten to pull Monday's game out of the fire. He calmly asked an East Stroudsburg resident, "What do you feed these kids that makes them fight back so courageously in the last inning each game?"

Also deadlocked for fourth place were Mike Rooney and Tom Keenan, Cold Creek; "Bud" Lew-

Famous Ring Referee To Appear In Highlights

Prizes Listed For Expected Huge Crowd

"RUBY" Goldstein, well known boxing referee, will be among the guest stars in the Eastburg Highlights and Festival of Celebrities show to be staged at Memorial Stadium on Sunday, August 15.

Mike Devitt, publicity and sales director at Shawnee Inn and Country Club, announced last night that Goldstein had accepted an invitation to take part in the gala three-hour show.

Goldstein joins such stars as Jane Froman, internationally famous singer; Joe Marine, Fred Waring vocalist; Sterling Holloway, Hollywood personality; Robert K. Christenberry, New York Boxing Commissioner; Jimmy Braddock, former heavyweight champion; Tommy Loughran, former light heavyweight title holder; Bruce Brubaker, champion flycatcher; Bill Hermann, world famed gymnast, and a host of others in the show.

Tickets are currently selling for five dollars apiece and all money will be used to pay for a permanent lighting system now under construction at Memorial Stadium. The Varsity "S" Club, backer of the lighting system, hopes to realize $15,000 through the show and pay off the lights entirely.

The sale of tickets will definitely end on Sunday and no tickets will be available after that date.

Results of last night's house-to-house campaign weren't complete at a late hour, but Paul Bartholomew, general ticket chairman, announced that the results appeared promising.

Devitt also announced last night that autographed baseballs from the Brooklyn Dodgers, Philadelphia Phillies, New York Giants, Washington Senators, Cleveland Indians and Baltimore Orioles have been received and will be given away as prizes during the show.

Other prizes include an autographed football from the Philadelphia Eagles, an autographed basketball from the Harlem Globetrotters and a soccer ball from the United States Soccer Football Association, autographed by many Olympic stars.

Golf balls will be hit into the stands during the nationally famous "Swing's The Thing" golf show, directed by Harry Olitz, head pro at Shawnee Inn and Country Club. Those catching specially numbered balls will be eligible for prizes listed above.

East Stroudsburg police and all of the borough playground personnel received council permission to donate services to the Highlight show. Burgess Jesse S. Flory asked council permission for police to work at the show.

Verdon T. Gilliland, head of the council playground committee, also asked council approval for superintendent Lewis R. Hastie and his full staff of playground personnel to spend the day at the festival show, donating their services to sell pop, refreshments, run errands, help out any way they could. Council approval was given.

Pale Hose Tame Red Sox, 6-2

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox and left-hander Jack Harshman again mastered the Boston Red Sox, defeating them 6-2 tonight, for Chicago's 12th victory over Boston in 16 games.

Harshman, who struck out 16 Red Sox at Boston two weeks ago, held the Bostonians to five hits tonight.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP)—Powered by "Hank" Thompson's 19th home run of the season with two mates aboard in the first inning, the New York Giants went on to crush the injury-riddled Chicago Cubs 7-1 tonight to maintain their five-game National League lead over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Blasting Bob Rush for 12 hits, the Giants made it easy for Rubin Gomez to register his 10th victory, and the Giants' fifth in succession. Gomez scattered five hits and lost his shutout in the second when the Cubs tallied without the benefit of a hit. They filled the bases on a hit batter and two walks, Frank Baumholtz's sacrifice fly scored Ernie Banks.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (AP)—Jimmy Carter, twice dethroned as lightweight king, and fancy Glen Flanagan, unbeaten in 11 straight bouts, tangle in a nationally televised 10-rounder at the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night (9 p.m. EST).

Carter's scrap with the smaller of the flailing Flanagan Brothers of St. Paul imperils his Sept. 22 rematch with the man who last wrested the 135-pound crown from him, Paddy DeMarco.

Glen Flanagan, whose brother, Del is a leading writer contender, will be at the heaviest of his career, about 136 pounds, as he tries to gain top lightweight recognition.

A defeat would be a serious setback to the favored Carter, now 30, who had the lightweight crown jabbed from his brow for the second time last March in a startling upset by DeMarco.

Carter trained for this fight at Harry's Farm, located approximately 12 miles from Stroudsburg, Pa.

Redlegs Snap Losing Habit

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs snapped a four-game losing streak tonight, hanging out 12 hits to easily defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-2. Southpaw Joe Nuxhall had a shutout until the ninth when the Pirates pushed across both of their runs.

Four of the Redlegs' hits were doubles, coming off the bats of Gus Bell, Jim Greengrass, Roy McMillan and Chuck Harmon.

Harmon and Greengrass accounted for three hits apiece, each getting two singles in addition to the doubles.

Bell, a former Pirate, had a single in addition to his double and accounted for the first two Redleg tallies.

The Redlegs scored twice in the first inning off starter Bob Friend and two more in the third. Max Surkont took over for Friend in the fourth and was reached for three runs in the sixth.

Manager Birdie Tebbets pulled a quick switch in pitchers, starting right-hander Bub Podbielan against a Buc lineup full of southpaws. After Podbielan had pitched to one batter Nuxhall, who had been warming up all along, came in. He doled out four singles until the ninth when he was reached for another single and a double. He lost his bid for a shutout when he let loose with a wild pitch with Pirates on second and third as the result of a walk and a double by Dick Cole.

Curt Roberts, rookie Pirate second baseman, had three of the Pirate hits—all singles.

Named Hockey Coach

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 3 (AP)—Howard W. "Howie" Meeker, former right wing for the Toronto Maple Leafs, today was named coach of the Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League.

Rain Postpones Fight
MT. CARMEL, Aug. 3 (AP)—Rain forced postponement tonight of a scheduled 10-round fight here between welterweights Johnny Saxton, Brooklyn, and Johnny Lombardo, Mt. Carmel.

Tony Midiri and Harold Storm, Glen Brook, failed to place among the money winners as they combined for a 72 on nines of 35 and 37. Midiri and Storm played with Jim Davis and Austin "Bates" McCarty, Bethlehem Steel Club.

Steppe and Hayes Wilson, Maple-dale, with a 66. John Weitzel and Bob Davis, Hershey; Cas Banas and Larry Yearsley, Coatesville; Charles Lepre and Harrison Todd, Tavistock, and Jack Robinson and Harry Dobbs, Springfield, all tied for third place with a 67 count.

The tournament was won by George Griffin and Sam Robinson, Green Valley. The combination shot a 65 on nines of 33 and 32. Second place went to Carmen

Popular Pilots To Appear At Local Track

STROUDSBURG Speedway will play host to some of the finest stock car drivers in the east during the remaining weeks of the current season. It was announced last night by Harold Snider, manager of Monroe County's only active racing surface.

Chief among the drivers will be Freddie Fehr, the likeable Easton speed demon who won the Stroudsburg Speedway championship last season.

Fehr will lead a host of drivers who have performed here in the past including colorful Jack Burgstesser, Phillipsburg pilot now fully recovered from a recent crashup at Dover.

Stroudsburg Speedway will feature open competition for the balance of this season, meaning that any stock car driver, in any kind of car, can enter the regular Sunday night programs.

The local track is opening after being closed a month for extensive repairs, which includes painting the entire grandstand and putting the racing surface into near perfect condition.

Each of the Sunday night racing programs, beginning at 8:30 p.m. this Sunday, will feature five events.

Kansas City Makes Move

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 3 (AP)—Fate of a two million dollar item among 16 bond issue proposals totaling 57 million in Kansas City's primary today may determine the future of the Philadelphia Athletics' baseball club of the American League.

Supporters of the proposal for the city to acquire and enlarge the ball park seating capacity have contended that approval of the bond issue would almost certainly mean transfer of the Athletics from Philadelphia to Kansas City. Under the proposal, the seating capacity would be doubled — to 34,000.

They have emphasized that "almost," while pointing out the troubles the A's are having in Philadelphia financially.

Should the A's make the move, they would come into what long has been considered one of the finest minor league parks in the country.

Two Softball Games Postponed

LAST NIGHT'S softball games were postponed because of wet grounds and will be played on Friday it was announced last night by Jack Mullins, president of the Monroe County Softball League.

Ersine Leads Dodgers To Win Over Cards

BROOKLYN, Aug. 3 (AP)—Carl Ersine pitched and batted the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 2-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals to night. The ace right-hander fanned nine Redbirds, permitted only five hits and batted in the tie-breaking run with a single in the fifth inning.

Vic Raschi, the Cardinals' starter and loser, yielded only four hits in seven innings, but gave up three in the fatal fifth when the Dodgers got all their runs. Jackie Robinson singled with one out and advanced to second when Walt Moryn drew one of Raschi's four walks. Rube Walker, playing for the benched Roy Campanella, singled Robinson home with the tying run and Ersine came through with a bouncing single over third baseman Ray Jablonski's head to score Moryn with what proved to be the winning run.

The Cardinals got their run in the third when Raschi singled with two out and Wally Moon blasted a triple off the centerfield fence.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 2. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Look at the 3-way bonus you get in the car that's sweeping the nation!

1. You get the car that's styled for tomorrow —

$2289⁸⁸* delivered locally!

and for only

In Buick today you find the fresh modern beauty that will pattern the styling of other cars yet to come. That's a major reason for Buick's soaring success this year. But note the low delivered price shown here—that's the clincher. No other car at so low a price gives you this advanced styling—plus Buick's great room, comfort, ride and V8 power.

*2-door, 4-passenger SPECIAL Sedan, Model 480, illustrated. Optional equipment, accessories, taxes and title fees, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities due to differing charges. All prices subject to change without notice. Even the factory-installed extras you may need are bargain, such as heater & defroster... only $81.70.

2. You get the car that's a sure high resale value

Of this you can be sure: the new Buick you buy today will look modern next year, too—because that broad panoramic windshield will be appearing on other cars as a 1955 feature. So with the new Buick you buy now, you'll stay right up in the style parade for years to come—and command a higher resale price when you trade it in.

3. You get a bigger allowance from our volume business

Regardless of price class, Buick today is outselling all other cars in America except two of the "low-price three." That's fact. So with this tremendous sales volume, we can offer you a higher trade-in allowance when you buy a new Buick. Come in, see and drive Buick the beautiful buy. Then see for yourself how our volume business means a far bigger allowance for you.

Each new month firms the fact—
